"MAY NOTHING EVIL CROSS THIS DOOR"

Sermons of Recovery and Healing
by Rev. Chris Buice

Tennessee Valley Unitarian Universalist Church
Knoxville, TN

Tennessee Valley Unitarian Universalist Church in Knoxville TN announces that a series of sermons by Rev. Chris Buice dealing with recovery and healing are now available on CD.

On July 27, 2008 the congregation was struck by a senseless act of terrorism when a shotgun-wielding assailant disrupted a Sunday service, killing two worshippers and wounding a number of other congregants and visitors. Rev. Buice's sermons record his response to the tragedy and the congregation's progress toward recovery and rebirth.

The Tennessee Valley Unitarian Universalist Church continues to mend and grow in the aftermath of the shooting and is stronger than ever . . . over one hundred new members have joined, many specifically because of the congregation's stance as a welcoming congregation open to all and its courage in the face of adversity. TVUUC has been inspired by these sermons . . . and now you can hear them and be inspired, too.

The series of ten sermons, entitled "May Nothing Evil Cross This Door," is available on a three CD set for a suggested donation of $23. All donations will fund continued recovery efforts at the church for those still struggling to heal completely.

To order this series, send a check or money order to:

Tennessee Valley Unitarian Universalist Church
2931 Kingston Pike
