

Defying Gravity: Leadership Day on November 7 at Shelter Rock

Leadership in a congregation can feel like a heavy responsibility. Come to the UU Congregation at Shelter Rock (Manhasset NY) on November 7 and find out how the very role you play in your congregation can lighten your heart and expand your soul. This multi-track conference provides useful skills instruction to make your work easier and it also helps you uncover the links between your role and your spiritual growth.

Rev. Dr. Laurel Hallman will deliver the keynote address followed by expert-led, three-hour workshops tailored to specific roles of congregational leadership including presidents, ministers, treasurers, religious educators, administrators, and worship associates. Individual tracks are also tailored to the chairs and members of an array of committees including membership/growth, social justice, finance, communications/technology, religious education and committees on ministry. Check back for more committees as we confirm the presenters for other areas.

Your entire congregational leadership can share this training experience while getting help in their specific roles. Shelter Rock has made their facilities available to congregations who wish to meet, as a group, immediately after the conference to integrate their learning and plan next steps.

Save the date and spread the word. With a message of the spirit from the Rev. Hallman and specific skills instruction tailored just for you, the day promises to raise your spirit as it provides models and methods to lighten your load. Come defy gravity with us at Shelter Rock on November 7.

Time: 9:00am – 4:15pm (bagels at 8:30am, optional strategy session at 4:15-5:00pm)
